NYC Arts Radio covers stories on what it is to be a visual artist.

Allison Malinsky, NYC Arts Radio Editor, Producer, Transcript Secretary and Host
John Wiggins, Sound Designer

2017    Episode 3: You will survive this: a conversation with Rene Ricard

My conversations with Rene were many, but this conversation, from early 2013, was the only one we agreed to record for this show focusing on his poetry, paintings, and life at the Chelsea Hotel under new ownership.

2016    Episode 2: The Studio: Part I

This episode's conversation focuses the artist's studio and process of creation with the New York City based artists Pablo Jansana and Alberto Borea.

2013    Episode 1: Creating Communities

This episode highlights an incredible story of collaboration between the well-known New York City based visual artist Ray Smith and the artists and co-founders of MANA Contemporary, Yigal Ozeri and Eugene Lemay.

COLLABORATION

2015 – Curr. Kandor 13 www.kandor13.com

K13 is a dynamic playground based in New York created in 2013 by artists Pablo Jansana and Félix Lazo, later joined by experience designer Lucía Cozzi. Dedicated to the exploration of diverse practices, K13 encourages critical engagement and innovative approaches by providing a creative platform for cross-disciplinary collaboration between artists, curators and critics. On the lookout for vigorous exchange between disciplines and backgrounds through our members from Berlin, London, Oslo, New York, Mexico, Bogota, and Barcelona.

ABOUT NYC ARTS RADIO

Each episode of NYC Arts Radio investigates artists' relationship to one topic through its many facets. With each episode listeners, both artists and layman alike, gain a sense of the far reaching entirety of art and its many dimensions in NYC and beyond.

Separate interviews are held with individual artists, and people beyond the limits of the art world, on the same topic. Later, corresponding interviews are strung together to make one episode or multi-part episodes.

Unlike typical artist interviews, NYC Arts Radio episodes are not solely focused on specific art projects, exhibitions, or finished products. On NYC Arts Radio each exchange with an artist is meant to extract a deeper explanation of their practice and the relevant topic. The role of accompanying, or multi-layered, interviews is to enlighten varying relationships to that art topic, and to further express facts or opinions. All interviews are mixed with narration, by host Allison Malinsky Vilalta, into tightly edited tracks with sounds and music by sound designer, John Wiggins.

The goal of NYC Arts Radio is to construct each episode so the audience feels, through transmission, that they are experiencing a collective artistic way of being, and therefore a relation to what it is like to be a visual artist.
